Integrating publication lists into your webpage at PSI

Adding a publication list

Any search result list from DORA can be added to your webpage, displaying the corresponding citations with an automatic update. Thus, you can automate e.g. the display of publications for your research unit or for your personal webpage. To make this possible we provide JSON strings.

Search for the publications you want to link at your homepage easily either by using the advanced search or the filters we provide in DORA. You can find searching tips here.

Take the URL from your search results and add it at your PSI Drupal Interface under "DORA-URL" without changing anything:

The screenshot shows a configuration form for adding a DORA publication list. It includes a plus icon and the DORA logo. The form has three main sections: "DORA-URL" with a text input field containing the URL "https://www.dora.lib4ri.ch/psi/islandora/search/mods_name_"; "Publikations-IDs" with a large empty text area; and "Migration: DUO Suche" with a text input field.

The publication lists are automatically updated daily.

Adding a single reference

Search for the publication you want to add in DORA and copy the persistent ID:

Mirror systems for SwissFEL, from concept to commissioning with x-rays

Spielmann S, Flechsig U, Thominet V, Follath R, Krempasky J, Wagner U & Patthey L

APA

Citation Spielmann, S., Flechsig, U., Thominet, V., Follath, R., Krempasky, J., Wagner, U., & Patthey, L. (2019). Mirror systems for SwissFEL, from concept to commissioning with x-rays. In S.
